George Machovec “Leveraging the Power of Consortia for New Ventures”

George Machovec is the Associate Director for the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries. He is involved with most of their projects in such capacities as visioning, project planning, grant writing, vendor relationships, and working with the technical staff on project implementation. The Alliance currently handles a suite of projects, such as providing electronic resources, performing custom work for member libraries, and managing an e-journal access project. Their INN-Reach union catalog is known as "Prospector" and serves sixteen libraries including Denver Public, the University of Colorado, and the University of Wyoming. Mr. Machovec is on the Library and Information Technology Association (LITA) Board of Directors, edits two publications, and has published four books and over a hundred contributions to journals, books, and proceedings. His library degree is from the University of Arizona, and he grew up in New Mexico, where his father was a librarian.
