1. The meeting was called to order at 2:00 pm by new chair, Nina Stawski. She thanked Sarah for her work as previous chair and for her work on the FAQ.
2. Old Business – Personal note, former Arthur PSC member has a new baby girl!
3. New Business
 - A. Item: New Millennium example navigated/previewed interface. We noticed some inconsistencies and have several questions, such as when a new interface might take effect for cluster catalogs, the inconsistency of “view your bag” being titled as “your list of saved records” and “saved records” pages in general. Changing and tweaking of buttons might also be in order if the new interface is adopted. For example, the “Request” button might need to be moved for better visibility.
 1. Item: “Upon view of new online catalog example, we recommend directors consider the Arthur catalog be transitioned to the new interface.” Item passed.
 - B. Item: 2009B Enhancement recommendations from MOBIUS were passed to us from the Arthur Coordinators committee. Voted on five items:
 1. “New item Status code: ‘Checked in but not on hold shelf’ displays in My Millennium/View My Account” – Item not recommended
 2. “ ‘Additional copies’ text on browse display now editable” - Not understood as a decision item, though if simply asking if this option is deemed acceptable, item can be recommended
 3. “Display Course Reserves loan period” – Item recommended conditionally, if suppressible in individual catalogs.

4. "My Lists buttons may be added to Browse & Record Displays" – Conditional recommendation. If in new interface implementation, item is recommended, if it will be forced into current catalog, not recommended.
 5. "Material type icons in record display (contact to change or remove)" – Item recommended.
- C. Lucia with Columbia College noted that there is a problem with the "View Your Account" section of her catalog, and was curious if the cluster as a whole had problems with their individual catalogs in regards to the format of the page. When an individual tries to view their account by entering their information, they are taken to a page with very little script other than their name, along with the same "View Your Account" link that mistakenly leads people to think that they need to click on that link again to see their account details. Lucia is going to recommend that the Columbia College catalog be changed to remedy this issue.
- D. Library reports
1. Lincoln – Lois reported information on Lincoln's new library director/University Librarian, Jerome Offord, a Lincoln Alumni. He formerly worked for OCLC and is currently pursuing a PhD. Lois also reported that Lincoln University now has a Library Science minor, and has started lending iPads.
 2. Columbia College – Lucia reported that this year's One Read program was successfully implemented. The library also opened a new position – Assistant Director and Electronic Librarian. Also of note at Columbia College: library staff room remodeled, a display put up for Constitution Day, and hoping to promote the "iGeek" campaign @ DragonCon through OCLC.
 3. State Library – Sarah reported that the State Library is building a Missouriana print collection, and will be marketing new LIS books, available through their catalog in October, to public library directors in time for the MLA annual conference.
 4. Stephens – Nina reported.
 5. William Woods – Jill reported.
 6. Westminster – Kat reported instruction on MP4s, IL2Go (Bibliotheque Out), and the use of an anime library hero in recent publications (other group members want to see!). Westminster has also held a Symposium on Global Conflict with a Mark Twain War Prayer/Student Prayer tie-in through Global Conflict displays. Visual information displays have also been utilized, a book discussion on Good Omens was held with a door prize of a Nook e-book
